

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An electronic apparatus is equipped with a fuel cell capable of generating power by chemical reaction and a chargeable/dischargeable secondary battery. The 5 electronic apparatus determines whether a capacity of the secondary battery is smaller than a predetermined value when a power supply of the electronic apparatus turns off, and causes the secondary battery to be charged when the determination indicates that the 10 capacity of the secondary battery is smaller than the predetermined value.